"Fermassis" is the name of the sand castle which won the grand prize, a gilded shovel, in the 1965 Great Carmel Sand Castle Contest held on the beach on Sunday afternoon during one of the hottest days of the year. Builders of the "grandest" castle" of the 142 entries in this year's contest were the Ferm, Cassis and Johnson families. They are seen above, being presented with the shovel by Contest Marshal Don Brown of the Society for the Promotion of Fun in Carmel, also a member of the Monterey Bay chapter of the American Institute of Architects, sponsors of the event. "Fermassis" was a creation of interlocking and ever-increasing circles which expressed massing in an original planned concept.

Sunday evening a crimson sun set into a bank of ragged grey clouds. Soon irridescent waves rushed shorewards to clean the beach of sand castles created during the sizzling middle hours of the day. As a cool mist formed towards Pebble Beach, the last of the several thousand persons who either competed in, or watched, the 1965 Great Carmel Sand Castle Contest wended homewards.

A little later, only one tiny picnic fire pin-pointed the darkness which obliterated all but memories of the community event photographed by Life, Women's Day and Friends national magazines, local newspapers and a television station.

But some two score competitors had more than memories. Each of them took home a starfish and a ribbon mounted on colored cardboard printed with the word "AWARD." There were no first, second or third honors this year—just awards.

These honors were distributed in two divisions, Advanced Sand Box and Novice Sand Pile. The competition area was divided into four sections—orange, blue, yellow and green—with two judges to a color. They evaluated 142 entries presenting, in current events spoofs, several Humble Oil creations designed to warn, one even belching nauseous fumes, of what may be ahead for Monterey County, plus a wide range of other fanciful creations.

As judges prepared to leave the beach they saw sobbing children, heartbroken because their sand castle had not won an award. But—there was an extra starfish and ribbon on a placard — and soon smiles replaced sobs.

Contest marshals consoled other sobbers during the day. These were three lost children returned by the marshals, as soon as possible, to their parents. They guided judges to their assignments and pointed out each competitors registration card which they had made, too. The doughty marshals also shooed away unleashed dogs and after everything was over, urged castle builders to remove any litter on the beach.

The marshals were Boris Jacoubowsky, who designed the awards, Gene Takigawa, David Smith, Eddie Fischer (in an English bobbie's hat), and Jim Brady, who made the flags. Grand Marshal Don Brown and his wife, Betty, rewarded them for their hard work with a dinner party after the contest ended.

Judges were Chief Judge Fred Keeble, Marcel Sedletzsky, Will

Red Eagle Alley May Be Closed Planners Learn

Whether or not the public has the right to use Red Eagle Alley, a P.G.&E. easement running from San Carlos to Mission streets just south of Ocean Avenue, will be researched by City Attorney William Burleigh at the request of the planning commission.

Yesterday afternoon, planners learned that the alley is now closed to vehicular traffic and may be closed to pedestrians. At one time "Chief Red Eagle," a Choctaw Indian, lived in a dwelling off this right of way and many were the Carmel children who listened to him tell of Indian lore and his adventures as a member of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. The city honored this colorful resident by naming the alley after him.

Building permits approved by the commission yesterday afternoon were for a laundromat on the west side of Junipero between Fourth and Fifth with specific demands for tree planting and landscaping; a commercial building on the east side of Mission between Fourth and Fifth with screening conditions; and a parking lot on

'Step Forward' In Plans For Cultural Center

"This is the kind of thing we have been reaching for," Chairman Peter Dyer told other Sunset commissioners and the audience in city hall on Monday night following the presentation of two reports by members of the community, Eleanor J. Melvin and Wallace Doolittle. Both dealt with expected occupancies of the city's cultural and community center, particularly the auditorium.

"We have taken a big step forward tonight," Mr. Dyer added at the conclusion of Mrs. Melvin's report. She stated she represented a group of responsible representatives of seven leading music, art and drama societies on the Peninsula who are currently meeting and planning to incorporate as a non-profit organization — Arts Council for the Monterey Peninsula — and to represent cultural development of the area; to coordinate their activities; and to study and work toward acquiring better facilities for their activities than are presently available on the Peninsula."

Organizations planning incorporation into an arts council are the Monterey County Symphony Association, Bach Festival Board, Carmel Music Society, Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts, Monterey Peninsula Concert Association, Community Theatre and the Monterey Peninsula College Music Department, Mrs. Melvin said.

QUESTIONNAIRES

Leonard Klene, chairman of the committee organizing the council incorporation, asked Mrs. Melvin, secretary of this committee, to tell the Sunset Commission the results of questionnaires sent to the seven organizations and returned signed by either the president or executive secretary of each.

The questionnaires revealed the needs of these organizations in any future proposed cultural center.

Mrs. Melvin reported that four out of the seven cultural groups desired a 1,200-seat auditorium; one a 1,500-seat facility.

The combined expected use of any auditorium by the seven groups was 132 days per year. Museum gallery space desired by the American Federation of Arts was 20,000 square feet.

Five of the organizations expressed need for "quite intensive use" of classroom and meeting facilities. Need for office space was signified, either permanently or occasionally, by a majority of the groups. Individual storage space

'HALLELUJAH!'

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann is very proud of an invitation from J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, inviting him to attend the graduation of Captain William Ellis of the Carmel police force from the FBI National Academy next Wednesday. Chief Klaumann is also proud of Bill Ellis' final examination score, 97 out of a possible 100 marks in police work.

Bill will be back in Carmel at end of next week and, on November 9, will resume active duty with the police department. His remark on his graduation from the 12-week intensive FBI course is "Hallelujah."

Editor's Column

To one who has sat through countless hours of official discussion on the acquisition and development of a cultural and community center for Carmel; listened to angry arguments against facets of this project presented by citizens and one councilman noted for lengthy eloquence; been asked to sign petitions requesting the city council to practically prevent the Sunset Commission evaluating, and acting upon, a major proposal for the Sunset site; last Monday night's meeting of the commission was like a breeze of fresh air in stiflingly stuffy atmosphere.

For the first time, members of this community came to the commission and presented constructive material relative to the development of Sunset Center. Figures and facts to support their material immeasurably served to allay fears of cultural and community center project suffocation.

It did not matter that the refreshing gust which invaded the Sunset Center atmosphere was split into divergent currents. The different directions of the material presented provided the Sunset Commission with food for thought, evaluation, and even eventually may help disperse the discouraging atmosphere by which even the most stalwart member of this commission must have felt surrounded during past months.

Most revitalizing of all, was the effervescent air of cooperation which pervaded the city hall at the meeting's end. There was a realization that ill winds had not been blowing.

Honors And Sewers Receive Approval From School Board

Carmel High School will lose, for the rest of this year and maybe longer, a valuable social science instructor, but all of California will benefit from the appointment of Charles O. Moody as coordinator and executive secretary of the state's social science advisory committee, the Carmel Unified School District board of education agreed last night.

Mr. Moody has been appointed to his new duties by the California State Board of Education. His responsibilities will include providing the committee with necessary logistical and informational support for its mission which is to accomplish major reform of the social science program in California schools.

"I consider this appointment a remarkable personal and professional opportunity to aid in the improvement of instruction for the benefit of the schoolchildren of this state," Mr. Moody stated in

Benefit For Beacon House

On November 7 at 2:30 p.m., Mario Braggiotti, internationally renowned pianist and entertainer, will give a performance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Boit Morse in Pebble Beach for the benefit of Beacon House, the alcoholic rehabilitation center on the Peninsula.

The master of humor, satire and improvisation, described as "The Italian Victor Borge," is here as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Beaudette and is donating his talents through his friendship with them. Mr. Braggiotti, a native of Florence, Italy, was a teenage student at the New England Conservatory of Music and studied in Paris with Nadia Boulanger and Isador Phillipp. Following appearances in Southern California, he is en route to New York to fulfill engagements before returning to resume his European schedule.

Tickets for the benefit are available at The Wells book store, Rancho Shopping Center, or through Mrs. Beaudette (659-4363) or Mrs. Sidney Williams (624-5102).

In addition to the Morses and the Beaudettes, those lending their support for the event include Mr. and Mrs. Herman Westinghouse Fletcher, Mrs. Kenneth Walker, Mrs. J. Arch Butts Jr., Mrs. Robert Stanton, Madame Marguerite Namara, Mrs. Jane Campbell, Mrs. Lewis L. Fenton, the Reverend Peter Farmer, the Reverend David Hill, Dr. Donald Taugher, Dr. William Wenner, Dr. Carleton Whitehead, Howard R. Walton, Mrs. Wesley Heard, Thomas Tonkin, Cyril Chapelet, Dr. Louis Balsam, Mrs. Gordon Larson, Mrs. Sidney Williams, Miss Josephine Sparolini, George Walker and Mrs. Denny Lowrie.

Poor Premises Make Cultural Center Dissatisfied Tenants

Inadequate premises and furnishings lead to dissatisfied tenants Sunset commissioners learned Monday night when Mrs. C. E. Welchner, president of the Carmel Music Society, complained of lack of chairs, burned out spotlights and a splintery stage floor.

Mrs. Welchner asked the commission to assume the rental cost of 24 chairs, or provide them by other means, to meet the requirements of the society's sold-out season.

She stated that two overhead spots must be in working order by December 3 and that the stage floor is "so bad" that the Music Society is unable to book dance groups.

Such inadequacies are indeed irksome, she indicated, in view of the fact that auditorium rent has been "more than doubled" since the city took possession of the Sunset property.

Chairman Peter Dyer undertook the responsibility of asking the Monterey County Symphony Association to lend the chairs they own to meet the music society's needs.

He asked Commissioners Ted Fehring and James B. Pruitt to investigate the possibility of borrowing a ladder high enough to reach the spots, or if this is impossible, to buy a ladder, cost $721, so that the burned out lights can be replaced. The last time this was done, an electrical contractor charged the school district $160, Hugh Bayless, the commission's secretary, announced.

As for the stage floor, Mrs. Welchner was given no hope that this will be repaired during the present fiscal year. The floor has been sanded so many times it is only one-half inch thick and cannot take further refinishing. Needed is an additional surface or a new floor.

The city's arts commission was given permission to use, rent free, the former art room at Sunset for a young people's museum of art. How the cost of utilities for the project should be paid was left for the city council to decide. The arts commission will staff the museum and become owners, through the city council, of any pictures, and may paint and otherwise refurbish the museum premises.

Commissioners approved the expenditure of $674.21 to replace auditorium panic door hardware which is so deteriorated that the doors do not work. This sum will also replace four worn out doors and needed locks and studs in other areas. Comstock Associates gave the low bid for this work.

Approval was given to the employment, part-time, of personnel for parking and auditorium supervision. This arrangement will save $500 of the pay for such services if the fulltime Sunset custodians assume this duty. A classroom was rented for office use to the Harrison Memorial Library for $50 a month during the time, approximately six weeks, that it will take for the basement of the municipal library to be remodelled.

Commissioner Dr. James Gilman reported on the finances of the Sunset Commission at the end of the first quarter of the current fiscal year. None of the budgeted $1,650 for commission expenses had been spent. Of the $20,791 budgeted for operation of Sunset Center, $18,098 remained. Income from rentals totalled $955.

CHRISTMAS CRAFTS

Three-hour instructional workshop sessions in Christmas decorative crafts are being offered on Friday and Saturday mornings by Mrs. Ben M. Duggar Jr. and Mrs. Jean Anderson Keith. Designed for adults and older children, the workshops should provide an enjoyable creative outlet, according to Mrs. Duggar.

A registration fee of $2.25 will include some basic supplies and those attending may bring any materials they already have. The groups will meet in the classroom at Thea's Fashion Studio, Mission and Eighth. Since the number that can be accommodated is limited, reservations should be made by phoning 624-9306.

Edward M. Seifert Six Cities Fund Finance Chairman

Edward M. Seifert of Carmel Valley, a long-time resident of Monterey County and well known in Salinas Valley and Peninsula affairs, has been named finance chairman of the Six Cities Fund. General Chairman William Howard Church, professor of management at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School and a leader in the anti-refinery movement, made the announcement Monday.

The Six Cities Fund came into being following the marathon Monterey County Supervisors' meeting in which Humble Oil was granted permission to build a refinery at Moss Landing. When the mayors of six cities—King City, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Del Rey Oaks, Seaside, and Carmel—expressed their continued opposition to the refinery, concerned citizens in these communities promptly formed the Six Cities Fund to provide necessary support.

The Six Cities organization is currently locked in a legal battle with county officials. A 12,572-signature petition to have the refinery issue decided by referendum has been rejected by the supervisors, the vote splitting the same as for the original refinery permit. The Six Cities group has filed suit in Salinas Superior Court, requesting a writ of mandate to force the issue to popular vote.

A Salinas task force has joined the anti-refinery fight of the Six Cities Fund and other grass-roots groups of citizens are forming in King City, Castroville, and Watsonville areas according to General Chairman William Howard Church.

The Salinas group, under chairmanship of Colonel Fred Bacher of that city, has pledged itself to continued opposition to the proposed Humble Oil refinery at Moss Landing. Other leaders of the local action committee are Mr. and Mrs. Del Garlinger, Floyd Phelps, Dr. John Parr and Walter McGoodee.

Additional local action task force groups will be announced in the next few days. Volunteers can call these local chairmen or contact Six Cities by telephone at 624-8572. Contributions can be sent to the Six Cities Fund, P.O. Box 1915, Carmel.

All Saints' Parish Plans Festival Week

All Saints' Episcopal Church announces plans for a Parish Festival Week to take place October 31 through November 7.

The week of special observance will commence on Sunday at the 9 a.m. service when a Parish Eucharist will be celebrated in contemporary style by members of the clergy. It will be followed by a procession through the churchyard to the steeple cross where prayers in commemoration of the 53rd anniversary of the parish will be said. That afternoon children of the parish will assemble in costume at 4:30 o'clock for an All Hallow's Eve evensong service.

Other activities scheduled for the week include a Parish Eucharist at 5:30 p.m. on All Saints Day, November 1. Children who attend the Parish Day School will be given a holiday from classes that day. A Requiem for all the departed will be celebrated at 8 a.m., November 2, with special commemoration for members of the parish family who have died during the past year. The Day School will honor Episcopal School Week by holding open house at its Carmel Valley campus from 7 to 9 p.m. on November 3.

Daily services in celebration of Parish Festival Week will continue throughout the remainder of the week and will culminate with special observances at the 11 a.m. service, Sunday, November 7.

There are two ways to get into the rear of every 1966 Ford station wagon — over the tailgate or through the door. Ford's latest station wagon innovation is a dual-action tailgate. Open it with the center latch, left, and it's a tailgate. Open it with the handle, right, and it's a door. Illustrated on the 1966 Ford Country Squire Wagon, top, the new feature is standard on all Ford and Fairlane station wagons and is optional on Falcon wagons. The door feature permits easy passenger entry and provides ready access to a lockable storage compartment, while the tailgate is available for hauling or loading cargo. Earlier innovations which pushed Ford to station wagon sales leadership in 1965—dual center-facing rear seats and built-in rear window air deflectors — are retained for 1966. Viva La Fiesta!

Flickering candles lit the garden pathway into Casa del Cain on Saturday evening, when Mrs. Marjorie Cain opened her attractive and unique adobe house in the Mission Tract for a community party with the accent on Mexico. As if the table groaning under the load of delectable offerings from each guest wasn't enough, Hugh Bayless turned chef to prepare fresh chiles rellenos. Junior hostesses Marci Cain and Mary Arnold circulated with refreshments to complement the south-of-the-border fare.

A rousing addition to the festivities was the mariachi music and songs contributed by four of the guests, Jesse Paredes, Larry Esquivel, Dan Lucero and Pete Sanchez, who appeared in colorful charro costumes. During part of the evening, they were joined in song by Mrs. Paredes and Mrs. Lucero.

Of special interest to lovers of Mexican folk music were the tapes played by Mrs. Cain, who had recorded the voice of Pedro Soria while in San Miguel de Allende. The young, untutored singer has a voice and technique equal to the finest interpreters of Mexican and Spanish songs.

The fiesta-goers included Dr. and Mrs. Charles Rosewall, Poppy Creedon, Sandi Didrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mong and their baby daughter Shannon, Mrs. Helen Arnold, Mrs. Webster Street, Mrs. Jan Tugwell, Shirley Tepper, Dale and Ken Edwards, Mrs. Barbara Dickson, Roger and Rob Dickson, Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Elisabeth Touche, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Dr. Eric Berne, Mrs. Jane Vial, Mrs. Lucinda Williams, Bud Evenson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bayless and their son Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Paredes, Bonnie Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Esquivel and Carol Esquivel, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lucero, with Becky, Rachel and Rose Lucero, Mrs. C. B. Edwards and Pete Sanchez.

Seen On The Beach

Young families with Carmel childhood ties flocked here last weekend to take part in or play spectators at the Sand Castle Contest. Among those glimpsed in the throngs were the Colin Kusters and their four children, who came over from Salinas; Philip Greene and his wife, Gail, here from San Francisco to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gordon "Did" Greene, prevailed upon Mrs. Greene to baby-sit for their youngsters, Pam and Nathaniel, while they inspected the beach creations; the Nathaniel Baylises of Palo Alto were the only family to "cop" two individual prizes, awarded to their young sons, Owen and Lloyd, who got a late start but proved fourth generation Carmel creativity will out. The boys are the grandsons of the Frank Lloyds.

Night At The Opera

For Mrs. Guy Cochrane, even the heat couldn't dim the magnificence of the San Francisco Opera Company's performance of "Tosca" last week when she heard a former Stanford classmate, Jess Thomas, in the leading role. Mrs. Cochrane who attended with several other alumnae, reports that the now internationally-known singer and his opposite lead, Soprano Marie Collier, received a tremendous ovation from an excited audience.

Logging Air Miles

Since notice of the Great Sand Castle Contest was short for many, Mrs. Blanche Klaus was resigned to viewing the beach spectacle this year without her grandaughters, Michele and Lori Fogerson. However, for the "Flying Fogersons" of Concord it was just a hop to Carmel on Sunday in their newly purchased Cessna, so Ronald Fogerson and his wife Barbara brought their daughters to surprise grandmother and take part in the contest.

As a top Lincoln-Mercury salesman in Northern California and Nevada for the past three years, Ronald has been awarded several air trips, including a recent one to Hawaii, for himself and his family, and they have long enjoyed flying small planes as well. Mrs. Fogerson and the girls flew to Ohio last Spring and "Grammy" is flying to Mexico in November, bringing the family's total air mileage to near-astronomical figures.

Northern Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walker spent a delightful two weeks in British Columbia on vacation, ferrying from point to point to reach their destination at Salt Springs where they set up camp near a small resort—so small, in fact, that they saw more deer and elk than people. A few nippy nights were passed comfortably with the aid of Mrs. Walker's forethought in bringing along a large section of foam rubber which served as an insulated tent floor.

Upon their return, Mrs. Walker took leave of her Carmel Foundation Town House duties to attend the Los Angeles convention of the Allied Senior and International Senior Clubs. She is now back and filled with new, stimulating ideas from the conference.

Everyone For Tennis

This past weekend, 20 members of the Golden Gate Tennis Club in San Francisco established headquarters at Rancho del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley while here to compete in mixed doubles play with 20 players from the local Meadowbrook Club. The tournament was arranged by Carol Tornroth, Golden Gate vice president, who spends much time in Carmel where he owns a home, and Meadowbrook's Leo Kohler.

First divisions winners were Marj Kohler, Leo's wife, and Fulton Mather of San Francisco. Top in the second division were Leo Stadnich and Jan Ihrie San Francisco. Third flight winners were Rhoda Hoag and Walter McCall, San Francisco. The fourth flight was won by Norma Miller and Carol Tornroth of San Francisco.

At the end of the day-long play, the 40 tennis enthusiasts, plus 14 others, all gathered for dinner and to relax at Rancho del Monte.

Steven Hillyard Wed

Mrs. Kay Hillyard was in San Francisco last week to be present at the marriage of her son, Steven A. Hillyard, to Susan Seagrave, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bryan Seagrave of Fall River, Massachusetts, who flew out to attend the ceremony. Mrs. Nellie Ann Hillyard of Monterey also traveled to the city to see her grandson married.

The young couple's wedding took place Friday evening at the Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco and was followed by a reception at the Mill Valley home of Steven's best man, John Culler.

The bride, who was educated in New England, is head nurse in neurosurgery at Mount Zion Hospital.

A marine engineer, Steven is a graduate of the California Maritime Academy at Vallejo and is now working toward his master's degree in mechanical engineering at San Jose State College.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard are making their home in San Francisco.

Juan Lopez Overseas

Pfc. Juan J. Lopez is serving in Viet Nam with the Army's new 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) as a mail clerk in the unit ordered there at the end of July when U.S. troops were increased in that country.

The young soldier, who graduated from Monterey High School in 1961 and has been in the Army since August, 1964, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rafael R. Lopez of Big Sur.

At Lewis And Clark

Alexandra Pratt was among some 400 freshmen enrolling at Lewis and Clark College at Portland, Oregon, last month. A Carmel High School graduate, Alexandra is the daughter of Mrs. Frances Pratt of Carmel. With other Lewis and Clark students, she will have the opportunity to participate in such programs as Overseas Study, which gives them the experience of living and studying in a foreign country.

Visiting New Grandson

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ross flew to Seattle Monday for a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Craven Ross, and the couple's first baby, Scott Edwin Ross. Although they saw Scott briefly when he was born in March, this will give them a better chance "to really spoil our first grandchild," says Mrs. Ross.

During the senior Rosses' ten-day absence, their younger son, Bob, will be tending the home front.

In Puerto Rico

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hubbard left Pebble Beach on Friday for San Juan, Puerto Rico, where Mr. Hubbard will attend the resort committee meeting of the American Hotel Association to be held this week at the Dorado Beach Hotel. Mr. Hubbard, manager of Del Monte Lodge, is vice-chairman of the hotel association's resort committee.

Susan Is Now Mrs. Conn

Happy memories of vacations here with her parents, visits at the Carmel home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O. Thompson, and student days at Santa Catalina School led Susan Leigh Ellithorpe to choose The Church of the Wayfarer as the site of her wedding to Wayne V. Conn of Tiburon on Saturday.

Bouquets of white flowers flanked the altar of the church for the three o'clock afternoon service read by the Reverend Burkert Cree.

Given in marriage by her father, Philip Danforth Ellithorpe of Fresno, Susan wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with a portrait neckline, Empire bodice and long sleeves, the A-line skirt sweeping back to a full-length chapel train. A jeweled bow held in place her tiered, ivory silk illusion veil and she carried butterfly orchids.

Joan Pearson, maid of honor, chose an Empire style floor-length dress of sage green velvet, designed with a slim skirt. A small velvet bow of the same hue held a matching silk veil on her hair. Her flowers were an arrangement of green spider chrysanthemums.

Robert Earl Conn was his brother's best man and guests were escorted to their seats by the bride's brother, George Thompson Ellithorpe of Phoenix, Arizona, James S. Wyatt III of Fresno, Samuel E. Carbray of San Mateo and William J. Raffanti Jr. of San Francisco.

Mrs. Ellithorpe greeted guests wearing a beige dress of sheer chiffon wool, fashioned with a draped skirt, soft cowl neckline and Dolman sleeves. A bow-hat of tourmaline mink and taupe accessories completed her ensemble.

For her granddaughter's wedding, Mrs. Thompson chose a French lace knit in a soft shade of lime with a matching veil and accessories.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Earl A. Conn of Woodland Hills, appeared in an ensemble designed with a light blue taffeta skirt and lace overblouse with which she wore matching accessories.

Topiary trees of gardenias stood beside the bridal party for the reception at La Playa Hotel which followed the ceremony. An unusual touch was the Nuremberg wedding cup, lent by the Webster Downer family of Carmel, which topped the tiered wedding cake.

The bride, who has been employed with a title company in San Francisco, attended Santa Catalina School for Girls, graduated from Roosevelt High School in Fresno and studied at Fresno State College, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Conn of Woodland Hills. He graduated from Pierce Junior College in San Fernando Valley and Siebel Institute of Technology in Chicago and later served as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. Wayne, who entered executive training with Schlitz Brewing Company in San Francisco several years ago, is now assistant brewmaster of the concern.

When the young couple departed for a honeymoon in Northern California, the new Mrs. Conn was wearing an azure two-piece Hanro knit costume with a matching Dior bow hat. They will make their home in Tiburon.

Trimbles Enjoyed A Trip

Dr. and Mrs. William Trimble beat the heat last week, at least to some extent, by taking to the mountains and the highest valleys, relaxing at Lake Tahoe for part of their ten-day trip. From Tahoe they traveled east, turned south through the Walker Valley and visited Silver and June Lakes before crossing the Tioga Pass into Yosemite. "No vacancy" signs in the valley sent them on their way over the Wawona road to an inn which turned out to be a real "find," a Swiss-type establishment overlooking the mountains and forest, with charming accommodations and excellent meals — a spot to which they fully intend to return in the future.

A Saturday Christening

On October 16, Darius David Keaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darius N. Keaton Jr. of Pebble Beach, was christened at All Saints' Episcopal Church, with the Reverend David Hill officiating at the service. Godparents for the Keatons' five-month-old son are Mr. and Mrs. David Winsom Jr. of Burlingame and Mrs. Cortlandt Hill of Pebble Beach.

Also present at the ceremony were Darius' sisters, Melissa and Tracy, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Cortright of San Francisco. The senior Darius Keatons of Fresno were unable to attend the christening or the reception for family members and a few close friends which was held at the Keaton home following the service.

Israel And India

Israel and India were the subjects of a slide showing presented by Colonel Ralph Blumenthal of Carmel Valley to the VIEW group at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clute. Assisting hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bradley. Among highlights of the showing were scenes taken of Kashmir, Bombay, Calcutta, and Ceylon, India also Tel Aviv, Jerusalem, the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea.

Along with enjoying the slides, guests browsed through the rooms enjoying Virginia's mosaics and Jack's oils. They were Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gray, Mrs. E. M. Porter, Mrs. J. B. Phillips, Mrs. M. L. Stockton, Mrs. Margaret Hanna Lang, Mrs. George B. Turner, Mrs. Ralph Blumenthal, Miss Betty Renz and Rod Johnson.

Wedding In The Future

Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Carlyle Hoffland of West Covina have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Sue, to Michael Allman Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allman J. Cook of Pebble Beach.

Linda and Michael, both students at the University of California at Berkeley, plan to be married next June when he graduates from the university's school of architecture and, at the same time, receives his commission in the United States Navy.

A June graduate of U.C., where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Linda is continuing her studies there.

At Carmel High School, from which he graduated in 1960, Mike was senior class president and prominent in sports. An extracurricular activity was sailing with the Stillwater Yacht Club Mercury fleet. He is affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity at U.C.

Restful Change

The patter of small feet is wonderful — and sometimes nicer to come home to after a short absence—which accounts for the relaxed countenances of Sunset Commission Chairman Peter Dyer and his wife, Jeanine, who returned Monday evening from a long, quiet weekend at their cabin in Sequoia National Forest.

Mrs. Sarett To Retire From Town House Staff

Since July 1, 1952, Mrs. Ruth Sarett has been the executive director of Carmel Foundation Town House. As soon after Monday as a replacement can be found, she will retire from the work she has enjoyed for the past 13 years, Mrs. Fred L. Glascock, president of Carmel Foundation, announces.

Mrs. Sarett will be missed. Her calm, sympathetic personality has been a mainstay of the program for the older residents of this community. Almost from the beginning, she has directed Town House activities.

Carmel Foundation, a non-profit organization, was established in 1948 and incorporated two years later. Purposes of the foundation were to maintain a recreational center where all persons 50 years old, or over, could meet; to operate low-rental housing for those residents of Carmel of 65 years of age and over who wanted to live in dignity, security and comfort; and to provide a variety of services.

In March of 1952, Dr. Helen Field opened the first Carmel Foundation office in the Patterson Building. She served as acting executive director for four months until a permanent director was found. This director was Mrs. Sarett.

But in the months that Dr. Field directed Carmel Foundation work, she guided the establishment of the organization in such a way that a lasting framework was developed for services to older people. It was through her foresight that Town House was purchased during her months as director — with a down payment of $100. In this former dwelling on Lincoln Street, Carmel Foundation's home services were expanded and Town House activities begun.

Mrs. Sarett was Dr. Field's successor. Under her guidance the objectives of Carmel Foundation were nurtured. The modest program of Town House activities at the time of Mrs. Sarett's coming has been increased to include classes in painting, wood carving, knitting, rug hooking, sewing, physical fitness, shuffle board, music appreciation and languages. In addition, Wednesday afternoon meetings at Town House feature talks, concerts, film and slide showings followed by tea. Luncheons and holiday dinners, bridge, a library and art exhibits are included in the comprehensive program which has developed during Mrs. Sarett's directorship.

Her term as director included establishment of Carmel Foundation housing. In 1963, Carmel Foundation purchased a cottage adjacent to Town House and converted it into a residence for older persons. The next year, a small motel was bought near the post office and remodelled into low-rental apartments as another phase of the foundation's housing program.

Mrs. Sarett's work has also included confidential discussions of personal and family problems of Town House members. She has supervised referral of carefully chosen housekeepers, nurses, companions and other helpers for elderly persons who needed these home services.

And then there is the Meals-on-Wheels service by which Mrs. Sarett has made sure that food was provided for persons who, either temporarily or for longer periods, could not cook for themselves.

Another of her responsibilities has been to see that a daily check is made on persons living alone, if they desire this service. She has arranged for volunteers to provide cars and time to take Town House members to doctors' appointments, on shopping trips and for recreational drives.

In fact for 13 years, Mrs. Sarett has contributed immeasurably to the continued well-being of the older citizens of this community, regardless of financial status.

Since 1961, the activities office has issued a monthly bulletin giving dates, hours, and all details of everything that has gone on at Town House under the guidance of Mrs. Sarett.

However, she has had to have help with the program as it expanded. In March of 1961, Mrs. Eunice Messent joined the Town House staff fulltime and did a very successful job of expanding and enriching Town House activities.

When she retired, Mrs. Olive Walker became activities director and worked with Mrs. Sarett. She will remain after Mrs. Sarett retires as will, also, Mrs. Helen Mears, present home service director.

But, since July 1, 1952, the Carmel Foundation motto, "An Adventure in Neighborliness" has been Mrs. Sarett's prime responsibility. She has indeed been the friendly neighbor of all those who have gone through the door of the little cottage on Lincoln Street. She has given warm understanding; seen that opportunities for broadened horizons were provided; and made sure that there existed an atmosphere in which to make new friends and find interesting experiences.

Hospital Auxiliary To Elect Officers

Election of officers of the auxiliary of the Community Hospital for the year 1966 will take place at a meeting for active members at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club on November 15. A brief coffee period at 9:30 a.m. will be followed by the business meeting and election of officers at 10 o'clock President Mrs. William Byrnes, will preside.

Thomas Tonkin, administrator of Community Hospital, will speak on "The Exciting Future at Community Hospital," outlining plans for several interesting and important projects.

Arrangements for the meeting are under the direction of Mrs. Harold Isaacson, general chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Leland Paul, hospitality chairman, and Mrs. Robert Robertson, decorations.

Members are requested to wear name tags.

LECTURE AT CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Racial tranquility, industrial peace, harmony at home: where do such things come from?

Christian Science lecturer, Herbert E. Rieke, C.S.B., links the good in our lives — the progress, achievement and peace — with qualities of character such as honesty, compassion and intelligence, that have a divine source.

He declares that "divine Love expressed as compassion, kindness, forgiveness, and tolerance, has always been the creator of good. Our sincere prayer should be that we may let an active sense of divine Love be expressed in all we think, say, and do."

Mr. Rieke is on tour as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. His lecture was delivered last Saturday evening in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel. He was introduced by Mrs. Dorothy Oates. Mr. Rieke's topic was "Who Is Your Maker?

Letters To The Editor . . .

FERMENT FOR SUNSET
Editor
Carmel Pine Cone

Recently Anita Wainwright sent me some clippings concerning the development of the Sunset School as a cultural center. As I have some thoughts concerning this I am writing an open letter which I hope that you will publish.

For several months I have been away from Carmel but I visit there quite often and still have a strong interest in the community. In the old days Carmel belonged to the residents, but now, the business area at least, belongs to the tourists. Many of the new structures that have been erected are very fancy indeed and the businesses housed therein need the tourist and transient trade. Without going into the reasons why all this has happened it is indeed a fact. Old Carmelites may cherish memories of how the village was but this is the time to start planning for growth of an individual culture. This culture would actually support the business community and would give the people of Carmel something for themselves. The arts need some help in a community way. There are no roller coasters on the beach and the Tuck Box will remain charming but besides the landscape, a growth in the arts would involve the natives and fill a hollow which I think exists at present.

From what I read there is no reason why the City of Carmel should not develop the Sunset School as a cultural center on a non-profit basis. It does not have to be done quickly and would be more effective as a long range plan. I do feel that the city offices might be moved to Sunset Center in the near future to provide a nucleus.

Why couldn't the interior of the existing buildings be remodeled to contain studios and workshops for artists and craftsmen? Those interested in painting, music, sculpture, the theatre, writing or the crafts would then be able to rent space at a reasonable fee. There are those students of the dance who need a room with a ballet bar.

May I point out that many artists cannot afford to rent studios in Carmel. If Carmel is to maintain a reputation as an art center, let it really become one! There are many fine artists in the area but they don't get together much. Except for occasional meetings at the Carmel Art Association and the monthly change of show there, I think there is less contact than years ago. At the mentioned gatherings there is not much talk about art. There is one important and enduring art school in the area.

Should there not be a little ferment among students of the arts. Out of contact between artists come new ideas. Why shouldn't Carmel become an exciting place for those interested in the arts?

Sincerely,
Sam Colburn
Santa Clara

Barbershop Chorus To Be Feature Of 'Harmony At Sunset'

An original chorus presentation of barbershop ballads will be featured on the twelfth annual concert of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. The affair will be given on November 12 and 13 at 8:15 p.m. in Sunset auditorium.

SPEBSQSA quartets of the Peninsula and Salinas will combine as a chorus to present a review of barbershop ballads through the years starting with "The Good Old Days," progressing through the "Gay Nineties," World War I and the "Roaring Twenties" to more modern times. This singing will comprise the first part of the program.

Starring in the second half will be a guest quartet, "The Golden Staters" from Arcadia. This group captured sixth place in the 1965 international barbershop competition in June. Local quartets will also sing on this part of the program.

The concert will be billed as "Harmony at Sunset."

Carrie Hales

Requiem eucharist was celebrated yesterday morning at All Saints' Episcopal Church for Mrs. Carrie Jepsen Hales who died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Jean Brannan, on Ribera Road. The Reverend David Hill officiated at the services.

Born in New London, Connecticut, on February 8, 1889, Mrs. Hales was a California resident the greater part of her life and a frequent visitor here over a period of 40 years. Following retirement after 30 years as a social worker for Alameda County, she moved to Carmel where she made her permanent home for the past 15 years.

She belonged to La Collecta Club and was a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Hales is survived by two nephews, A. J. Hales and Edward Hales of Alameda.

Burial took place in El Carmelo Cemetery. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Hales may do so in the form of contributions to All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Junior League '65 Competition For Young Musicians

The Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula Inc. will hold its Young Artists' Auditions on November 13 at 9:30 a.m. in the music building auditorium of Monterey Peninsula College. The competition is open to students of any musical instrument, 18 years old and younger, who are residents of Monterey County.

The winner will be presented as guest soloist with the Monterey County Symphony for the 1966 Youth Concerts. Both winner and runner-up receive scholarships from the Junior League.

In addition to sponsoring these auditions, the League has sponsored, since 1954, a series of free Youth Concerts designed to foster an interest in good, live music among the children and young people of the community.

Application blanks for the auditions are available in Carmel at Harnish Music Company.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Thomas White of Carmel (624-3014).

Medill Bair Chosen To Aid Development Of State Education

The State Board of Education, on October 15, confirmed the appointment of Medill Bair, Superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, to the Committee of Seven. This group is charged with the responsibility of making recommendations to the state board for the development of program proposals which will have the greatest impact in meeting objectives of the California Secondary Education Act. These objectives include strengthening leadership resources of the State Department of Education, also to establish and improve programs which identify and meet the educational needs of this state.

One of the functions of the Committee of Seven will be to recommend a survey project designed to provide the substantive basis for preparation by the state board of a master plan for educational development.

The survey project will convene a "master plan survey team" to review the array of educational problems and opportunities, conduct statewide investigations, identify high priority areas, assess desirability of state action, and recommend to the state board allocations of effort on desirable action programs.

In addition to Mr. Bair, members of the Committee of Seven are Dr. Henry M. Brickell, assistant superintendent of the Manhasset School District in the State of New York; Henry S. Dyer, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey; Dr. Thomas S. James, Stanford University; Dr. Donald W. Johnson, administrative consultant, State Department of Education; Ray H. Johnson, assistant chief, division of public school administration, State Department of Education; and Leon M. Lessinger, superintendent of the San Mateo Union High School District.

Development Along Highway One South Of Valley Road Under Way

Preliminary work on Carmel Center across Highway One from Mission Fields is now under way.

According to William L. Hudson of Carmel Properties, developer of the 33 acres, storm drains, main sewer lines and an extension of Rio Road to Carmel Rancho Boulevard are included in present construction. Fill is being brought in and, in general, the acreage is being made "to look prettier," Mr. Hudson says.

First unit of the development to be constructed will be a 20,000 square feet professional office complex. Building of this will start before the end of this year.

Mr. Hudson states that parking will be depressed below the ground level of buildings so that asphalt areas will not be visible from Highway One or the road through the development.

Eventual development of Carmel Center will include a market, retail shops and a garden hotel.

Presently in the planning stage is an apartment development across Highway One from Carmel Center. Carmel River Inn Developers have obtained rezoning for a 74-unit project from the county planning commission. The apartment use is planned for three and one-half acres of the River Inn property situated on the north bank of Carmel River west of the Highway One bridge.

H. R. Fonseca of Carmel River Inn Developers says that, if financially feasible, apartments may be built next year and, most probably, the development will contain larger and fewer units than originally planned.

He added that plans also include remodelling of existing River Inn cottages. Mr. Fonseca's partners are Howard Bucquet of Carmel and Myron Etienne and Firmin Gryp of Salinas.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

COAST PROPERTY OWNERS TO MEET

The second annual meeting of the Coast Property Owners Association will be held Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Sur Grange Hall. Elections of officers will take place at the meeting.

The group was organized to bring together landowners who could express their opinions and have their majority views brought to the attention of various county and state agencies such as the county planning commission, the Division of Fish and Game, the U.S. Forest Service, the Division of Highways, California State Highway Patrol and others.

Chairman of the association is Ralph B. Atkinson and secretary is Mrs. Esther Ewoldsen, both of whom have been serving for the past two years. The board of directors constitutes property owners along more than 70 miles of coastal country and represents such areas as Malpaso Creek, Rocky Creek, Palo Colorado, Big Sur, Partington Ridge, Sycamore Canyon, Lucia, Gordo and Hot Springs.

"The stated purpose of the association," as explained by Mr. Atkinson, "is to protect and defend the rural, residential and recreational character and the natural and aesthetic beauty of the coastal area; to provide for the health, safety and welfare of the members of the area; to encourage community service and otherwise to act in the interests of the residents and property owners of the community."

OUTDOOR EDUCATION WEEK

Twelve boys and girls from Captain Cooper School, Big Sur, will board their school bus this coming Monday morning with suitcases and high expectations. The students, members of George Selvig's fifth and sixth grade classes will be driven by their much loved and devoted driver, "Ted" Bergquist, to Santa Cruz, where they will begin a one-week adventure—known as Outdoor Education Week—where they will have the opportunity to study and observe the various natural sciences in a truly outdoor environment. The program, which is participated in by schools in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties, has as its headquarters the Salvation Army camping grounds in the Santa Cruz mountains.

This will be the second time Captain Cooper school students will have taken part in this outdoor educational program. In addition to their teacher, Mr. Selvig, who will teach and take part in the week's activities, there will be student teachers from San Jose State College.

Two weeks ago the Parents' Club at Big Sur, under the direction of its president, Mrs. Edward Branson Jr., staged a highly successful Holiday Carnival at the school, the proceeds of which are being used to assist the girls and boys in meeting the expenses of this unusual outdoor program. Mrs. Branson joyfully tells us that the carnival "netted" sufficient money to enable them to give each participating student $9.35 toward their fee—each child will provide an additional $5.00 of their own. The balance of the charges for this "adventure in learning" will be suppled by the Carmel Unified School District.

Principal of Captain Cooper School, Mrs. Rowena Kelly, (also teacher of the first and second grades) is most enthusiastic about the entire program—for the opportunity the Big Sur students will have in association with those from far different schools and the fact that they will gain new concepts that they can use throughout the coming year.

LECTURE ON INDIA

Songs, color slides and a lecture on India will be presented Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m. at Coast Gallery, Big Sur, by Kriyananda, internationally known lecturer, teacher and musician.

Kriyananda, who lives in San Francisco and is an instructor at the Cultural Integration Fellowship Institute, was born in Rumania and received his early education in that country and in England and Switzerland. In early years he went against the traditions of his times and family and became interested in Eastern thought.

He has appeared before audiences in many parts of the world including New Zealand, Fiji Islands, India (where he lived for four years), Switzerland and the British Isles.

Tuesday evening Kriyananda will sing Indian songs accompanying himself on the tampura and the Indian harmonium. He will also entertain with American songs of his own composing, using a guitar as accompaniment.

In announcing this unusual program, Mrs. La Verne Allen, curator of Coast Gallery, extends an invitation to all readers of this column and their friends to attend. There is no admission charge although contributions will be accepted.

Senator Farr Was At White House For Bill Signing

Senator Fred S. Farr of Carmel, chairman of the California Senate Natural Resources Committee, was invited by President Lyndon Johnson, and attended, ceremonies at the signing of the Highway Beautification Bill at the White House last Friday.

Senator Farr stated, "I am gratified that Monterey County was represented at this significant occasion, particularly in view of the fact that our State Highway One has been designated the first official scenic highway in the nation and that Monterey County has been a pioneer in highway beautification."

Senator Farr was a participant at the White House Conference on Natural Beauty in May of this year and was one of four panel chairmen who presented the conference recommendations to the President and Mrs. Johnson at the White House. He chaired the panel on scenic roads and highways. Many of this panel's recommendations are included in the highway beautification measure. The provisions of screening junkyards, controlling billboards and providing roadside landscaping and beautification funds were included in the report authored by Senator Farr.

WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL LECTURE TOMORROW

Tomorrow evening at 8 p.m., Dr. Boyd Huff, Asian political expert, will discuss "Our Foreign Policy and Crisis to Crisis in Asia" at a meeting of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula in the music room at Carmel High School.

Since 1958, Dr. Huff has been an associate professor in the departments of government and humanities at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School.

CHANGE IN MEETING DATE

Martha Bruggeman of The Magic Fishbone, a bookshop dedicated to children, announces a change in the scheduled date of the parents' meeting on Christmas literature for the family and the child. It will be held on November 18 at 7:30 p.m., and everyone is welcome. The Magic Fishbone is located in the court behind The Clam Box on Mission between Fifth and Sixth Streets.

Like A Phoenix, Plumbing Firm Rises From Ruins

The Robert Waldo Hicks plumbing and heating establishment was in business Monday morning despite the shambles to which the shop was reduced on Saturday when a huge runaway garbage truck crashed through the building after creating havoc on its erratic course down Junipero Street between Fourth and Sixth.

Fortunately, there was no one inside the building at the time and no one in the path of the John Roscelli Corporation truck which started its backward race on the east side of the street near Fourth where it had stalled. Mechanical failure of the controls, including the brakes, resulted when the driver and his assistant attempted to restart it and were unable to reach the handbrake.

Before coming to rest in the Hicks building, where it caused an estimated $25,000 damage, the vehicle struck a car belonging to Rudy Campos of Carmel, parked in the center strip, jumped the center planter and further on hit another car owned by the George Bestor Company, mowed down 18 feet of fence on the H. R. Fonseca property and virtually telescoped one of Hicks' panel trucks before pushing it through the wall of the shop.

A fire from ignited gasoline was extinguished by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department before further damage resulted.

his letter to the board requesting leave of absence for the remainder of the current school year.

The board acceded to Mr. Moody's request. He will leave as soon as a suitable replacement for him can be found.

Another educational honor, that conferred by the state on Superintendent Medill Bair, was lauded by the board, too. This is his appointment to the Committee of Seven.

Action taken by the board, last night, included authorizing Mr. Bair to take the necessary steps for annexation of Middle School to the Carmel Sanitary District.

A letter from the sanitary district offered to annex the school at the entrance to Carmel Valley for the sum of $10,000, to be paid in ten annual installments.

Next Spring, the sanitary district plans to install a sewer along the Valley floor. This collecting line is planned to run along a boundary of the school site.

Some months ago, the Monterey County Health Department informed the Carmel school district that it would be required to join the sanitary district, for health reasons some time after the lower Valley is sewered.

DO YOU HAVE THE VAPOURS
AND TAKE TO YOUR BED

At the mere thought of building a new house and landscaping it from scratch? Here are some great next-to-new homes with all the work done but none of the shine worn off:

$39,500 NEAR CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL. Don't do it yourself until you've seen a house which was really planned for, built for, lived in and loved by a family. 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, den, beautifully carpeted and draped, wonderful kitchen, play yards, etc.

$42,500 IN A WOODSY SETTING on a lovely corner, a charming 3 bedroom, 2 bath home AND rented guest cottage. Not brand new, but absolutely up-to-the-minute including the kichen. Open House on Sunday; call for directions.

$55,000 FANTASTIC OCEAN VIEWS from every window of a home you couldn't duplicate on a similar site (we have a lot for $55,000 like this) and it comes to you so spic and span you don't even have to dust. 2 bedrms, a study, spacious family-dining room, quiet living room, all beautifully paneled, carpeted and draped for this low price.

$65,000 ONLY THE MOST INTERESTING HOME WE'VE seen in a long time, built in a hexagon shape to permit the fine ocean views, fireplace in each bedroom-suite and one in the living room, gourmet's dream kitchen, and the owners might even lease.

$69,500 NOTHING LIKE IT was ever built before in Monterey, a real wonder house overlooking the harbor and the city — luxurious, glamorous, most wonderful spot around here for cocktail parties and entertaining. A separate guest house will always bring $1200 per year if you want to lease it.

$84,500 SEE WHAT HAPPENS when one of Carmel's most traditional homes down by the Ocean on San Antonio is completely rebuilt, modernized, and decorated with exquisite taste. It's a wonderful world behind that stone wall. Let us show you.

$89,500 PROBABLY THE MOST CAREFULLY PLANNED and perfecly built home in Carmel Highlands, located on that beautiful Spindrift Road. Take a ride out with us and see how perfection is defined in this interesting 5 year old home.

PRICE REDUCED ! ! ! Now listed at $59,500 instead of $62,500, this "first-rate" residential property reflects EXCELLENT VALUE on today's market . . . prime location (Carmel Point) with an expansive view of the Valley and mountains and a desirable site area (approximately 60' x 140') are two of the fine features of this listing. A separate attractive guest cottage is truly a "bonus" item with its garden setting, livingroom with fireplace, bedroom and bath. The main house includes two bedrooms and two baths, a spacious livingroom, dining-area opening to a large deck, equipped kitchen, double garage with ample storage. Designed and built for its owner who has maintained both interior and exterior in high standard, this property is a pleasure to show.

SOMETHING SPECIAL . . . A CARMEL "GEM": Recently redecorated after renovations by Comstock Associates, this charming cottage personifies good taste in materials and total comfort in living for a single person or a couple. Corner location within walking distance to the Village, livingroom with a distant ocean vista, driftwood finish on interior paneling, new carpeting, central heating (new), and a completely fenced garden in natural planting. Included are washer, dryer, range, refrigerator and draperies . . . $26,500.

OUR BEST LOT VALUE: On Sloat Road in MPCC, this fine building site is priced to sell . . . only $10,500.

VERY ATTRACTIVE SMALL COTTAGE with 2 bedrooms, south of Ocean, high quality construction. Ideally suited to couple who wish comfort and convenience with a minimum of upkeep. Fully insulated—forced air heat — all electric kitchen. Easy walking distance to beach. Located on sunny lot. $30,000. Phone 624-7777.

"CARMEL ONLY. DON'T WASTE TIME TELLING US ABOUT ANYTHING ELSE."

O.K. HERE WE HAVE:

1. Sparkles like built yesterday, two bedrooms each with beautiful bath, (Wonderful income record from the one with outside entrance) solarium, double garage, handsome pine tree and just enough lawn to set off the prettiness of this "almost new" house offered at sacrifice price of $31,500.
2. No sparkle here because it needs a "shining up." Excellent structural condition with wise use of brick trim. Fine trees and shrubs (need pruning) and larger than average lot. Two bedrooms, one bath . . . wonderful location and perfect for one or two persons or as weekender. Or for the investor who has the "know how" and a few tools, paint brushes, etc. $28,500 with terms open.
3. This not only sparkles, it shines brightly in the midst of a wooded setting. Gives the feeling of complete privacy yet only three blocks from Sambo's. But, why would one go out to eat when one might cook in a sunshine kitchen with poppy-strewn walls? Three bedrooms, two baths, 22 ft. living room, and complete renovation job already done. What more could one ask for at $33,500 excepting good financing, and that is available, too!
4. Yes, we have a fourth one, a fifth one, sixth, seventh, . . . until you are satisfied but we no longer have that rare old Victorian or the little Brown Sparrow or the excellent buy in Mission Fields. They are SOLD, so is that Masterpiece on one-half acre in Pacific Grove and the charming Victorian with a guest house as a bonus . . . But, speaking quietly because we aren't supposed to mention anyplace but Carmel, we do have that very special unit in Hacienda Carmel and that old-world Spanish Casa in lovely Monte Regio, and an exceptionally choice building site in Upper Pebble Beach with an unobstructable OCEAN VIEW for only $15,500.

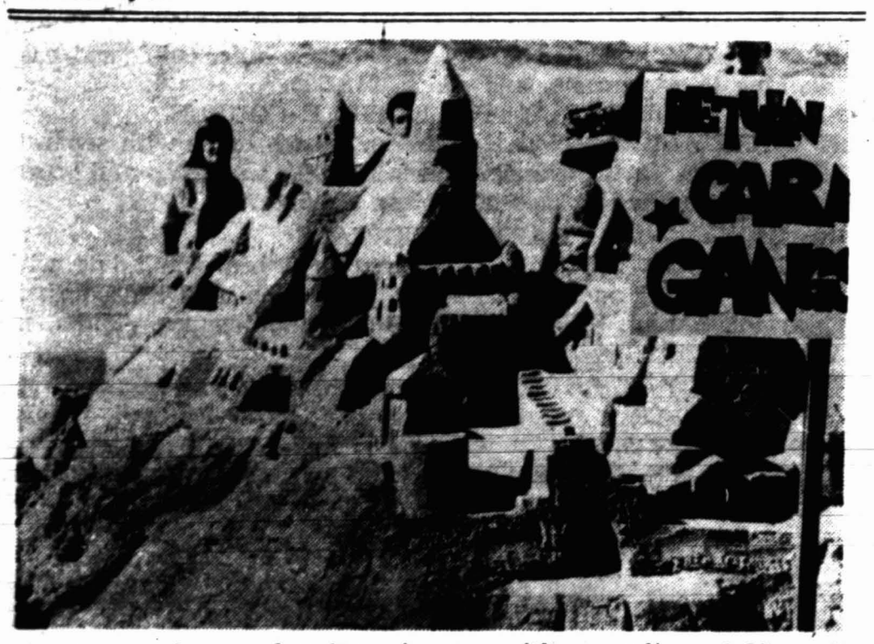
A group called the Whalers incorporated the living lass with the mermaid's tail, above, in their prizewinning entry in the 1965 sand castle contest. Behind her is a fearsome guardian, a long dragon, who, presumably came from some cool cavern because he could not stand Sunday's heat and disintegrated slowly as the hours passed. The massive whale which completed this entry withstood the searing sunlight much better and maintained a glittering gleam in its tin can eyes. —Richard Trueblood Photos.



Last year's grand prize winners, with a replica of Mont St. Michel, returned this year to compete in the sand castle contest with a replica of Ludwig of Bavaria's dream castle. Calling themselves the Carmel Gangsters, the group of teen-agers from Clovis did win a prize but failed, this year, to take home the golden shovel.

Too young to dig and pile sand in even the novice sand pile division of the 1965 sand castle contest were the two young observers above who sipped liquid refreshment shielded from the sun and the several thousand spectators who thronged the beach.

WHOO-HOO-HOO!

Curious Carmelites might like to know that they heard the fire siren over 60 times during the heat wave. And just about 60 times the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department responded with a truck and three men for gasoline "washdowns" alone. Three culprits were responsible: the heat, full-to-overflowing gas tanks in cars and hillside parking.

Sand Castle Contest Awards

Shaw, John Boit Morse, Robert Nelson, Mele Chudacoff, Steven Sassoon and Arch Garner.

The awards they distributed for a wide, wide variety of creations, were donated by the Monterey Bay chapter of the American Institute of Architects which sponsored the contest.

Unfortunately, the cards bearing the names of some of the winners, selected on a point system (20 points was a perfect score) were not returned to Grand Marshal Don Brown. The following list of award winners is compiled from the cards collected.

ADVANCED SAND BOX

Orange Section . . . Carmel Gangsters; The Coles; Tom Turner and Stan Spohn; Ferm, Cassis and Johnson families. This last group also took the grand prize.

'Step Forward' In Plans For Cultural Center

was a need for six of the organizations.

Only two of the returned questionnaires indicated need for library space. These were the Bach festival and AFA. Little interest was shown for kitchen accommodations but one group wanted a snack bar.

All groups stated that they expected to pay for accommodations in a cultural center and would help in any fund-raising event to finance development of such a center.

INTEREST IN ARTS

In addition, Mrs. Melvin reported that subscription memberships to the whole series of events offered by each of the seven organizations totalled 4,415. There was a one-third overlap in these subscriptions, she indicated, but subtracting this overlap from the total left a remainder of 2,943 individuals who purchase season subscriptions to only one group's offerings.

Of the combined population, taken from the 1964 voting precinct lists, of Carmel, its environs, Pacific Grove and Monterey, Mrs. Melvin reported that 6.6 percent of the residents are vitally concerned with the arts.

"This area is rich in cultural interest," she emphasized and added that 11 percent of the residents of the Carmel area support the arts.

To stress the favorable climate for a cultural center in this community, Mrs. Melvin pointed out that the present stage of development of Sunset Center, compared to the similar stage of development of a cultural center in Peoria, Illinois, in which she had been active, showed that interest in the arts in the Middle West communty was only one-half of one percent.

When the fund drive to obtain the Peoria center began, one percent of the residents evidenced interest. After construction and when the Illinois project was in full operation, three percent of the population was interested.

Mrs. Melvin indicated that, compared to Peoria, Carmel, with 11 percent of the population supporting the arts, was much a more fertile area for the development of a cultural center.

KEEP SUNSET AUDITORIUM

Mr. Doolittle's report to the Sunset Commission was a repetition of the plea which he made to the city council urging retention of the present 750-seat Sunset Center auditorium.

This facility has "very good acoustics," and provides a "very live" atmosphere for musical performances and these advantages would not be guaranteed in any new facility, he declared.

By means of a column of figures projected on a 60-70 percent occupancy advised by the California Arts Commission, during recent meetings in Monterey, to be the financially feasible use of any auditorium, Mr. Doolittle showed that the Monterey Peninsula does not, and cannot be expected, to support even the present Sunset auditorium. He favored convention use of the facility to augment income.

Mr. Doolittle emphatically said that, even if "an angel" did "give" Carmel a larger auditorium, such development would be a "foolish waste" of the Sunset site.

He advocated making the present auditorium safe and "basically sound," removing the proscenium arch, cleaning up the backstage area and building a "modern thrust stage."

FURTHER STUDY

Mr. Doolittle volunteered the information that Carvel Baldwin, a retired banker and Carmel citizen, could demonstrate how cultural and community center development could be worked out "within the framework of the city." He also offered his services to seek out solutions to center problems and to aid in future planning.

Chairman Dyer asked that Sunset Commissioners Jean van Loben Sels and James B. Pruitt meet with Mr. Doolittle to further discuss his proposals made Monday night. Mr. Dyer also asked Mrs. Melvin to meet with the same two commissioners for further study of her report.

THE WATER CURE FOR SPOTS AND SPILLS

Water alone, or with small amounts of inexpensive chemicals added, makes an effective cleaning agent. Many small spot removing jobs are better done with water than fancy spot and stain removers. Stains caused by alcoholic beverages, soft drinks and fresh black coffee can be removed by soaking or sponging the garment with cool water. Follow this treatment with a warm suds rinse. Fruit, gravy and ice cream stains can be treated in the same manner.
